

Prof. Dr. Dr. h. c. mult. Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza, Harvard University, USA

Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza is the Krister Stendahl Professor at Harvard University Divinity School. She has done pioneering work in biblical interpretation, feminist hermeneutics, and theology. Her teaching and research focus on questions of biblical and theological epistemology, hermeneutics, rhetoric, and the politics of interpretation, as well as on issues of theological education, radical equality, and democracy. Professor Schüssler Fiorenza was elected the first woman president of the Society of Biblical Literature and has served on the editorial boards of major biblical journals and societies. In 2001, she was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. She holds several honorary doctorates from American Colleges and Divinity Schools as well as European Universities. Professor Schüssler Fiorenza's active leadership in the academy and her involvement in work connected with "women in academy, church, ministry, and theology" has been pathbreaking. Her published work is extensive and includes In Memory of Her (translated into 12 languages); Bread Not Stone; But She Said; Discipleship of Equals; Revelation: Vision of a Just World; The Power of Naming; Jesus: Miriam's Child; Sharing Her Word; Jesus and the Politics of Interpretation; Wisdom Ways: Introducing Feminist Biblical Interpretation; Grenzen überschreiten: Der theoretische Anspruch feministischer Theologie, and The Power of the Word: Scripture and the Rhetoric of Empire. Among other volumes she has edited a 2 volume work Searching the Scriptures and co-edited Prejudice and Christian Beginnings. Investigating Race, Gender and Ethnicity in Early Christian Studies, Democratizing Biblical Studies. Toward an Emancipatory Educational Space, Women, Scripture and Politics: Exploring the Cultural Imprint of the Bible, as well as Commentaries on 1 Peter and the Letter to the Ephesians. She also has been the co-founder and co-editor of the Journal of Feminist Studies in Religion, the premier journal in the field.
